Sprint 10 focused on delivering the full reporting module using ChartJS, improving the reservation experience through status display and calendar filtering updates, and applying key change requests from the last sprint ceremony to address usability and system consistency issues.

Sprint Retrospective:

What went well:

- Most planned features were completed, including status display, calendar filtering, error messages, analytics dashboards, reservation trends, usage reports, and export reports.
- ChartJS was successfully implemented and fully integrated across reporting modules.
- Change requests suggested during the sprint ceremony were already addressed, including interactive status cards, status badge updates, and calendar improvements.
- Team collaboration was smooth, with clear task ownership and visible progress tracking.

What could be improved:

- Some critical changes, such as request ID separation and alternative equipment suggestions, are still ongoing and need more refinement.
- Waiting list/queuing logic requires clearer implementation rules and workflows.

What needs to be done:

- Complete the pending change requests from the last sprint ceremony, especially request ID separation and the alternative equipment feature.
- Finalize the waiting list/queuing system for release.
- Continue testing to ensure all fixes from previous sprints are stable.
- Prepare for handover by improving documentation for reports, error handling, and new UI changes.
